Welcome to our neighborhood, where ordinary modern life unfolds. We value family time, we drink coffee in our gardens, and sometimes rush to work—just like you.

About the area

Tórshavn's old town, consisting of Reyn and Undir Ryggi, is a small neighbourhood of black-tarred houses with white-framed windows and turf roofs. Remarkably, people still live and make their home in these 14th-century houses. Stroll down the charming narrow and winding lanes and experience a wonderful mixture of old and new.

Passing through Reyn, you arrive at Tinganes at the end of the promontory.
