WINDSWEPT, CLOUDY, AND COOL... THE FAROE ISLANDS ARE IDEAL FOR FERMENTING MEAT AND FISH — AN UMAMI PARADISE. BUT SOME FOREIGNERS TEND TO THINK OUR FOOD IS AN ACQUIRED TASTE. SO HERE'S OUR...

ACQUIRED TASTE SURVIVAL GUIDE

TUCK IN. You'll be fine.

- Turrur fiskur: Dried fish
- Havhestaugli: Fulmar
- Fesk grind: Whale meat

IF YOU DARE. You might be rewarded.

- Spik: Whale blubber
- Turr grind: Dried whale meat
- Rest kjøt: Fermented lamb

WE LOVE IT, but you might die.

- Skeppikjot: Fermented and air-dried leg of lamb
- Rastur fiskur: Fermented and air-dried fish
- Garnatál: Fermented and air-dried intestinal fat

SOME SAY FAROESE PEOPLE ARE SHY. MAYBE WE ARE. BUT WE ACTUALLY DO LOVE TO CHIT-CHAT. WHEN LEAVING A FRIEND'S HOUSE, WE USUALLY LINGER IN THE DOOR FOR AN EXTRA HOUR OF GOSPIRING. HERE ARE SOME TIPS ON HOW TO APPROACH A LOCAL.

HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS

SAFE TOPICS

Anything weather-related • If you don't experience all four seasons in a day, rest assured we will describe it to you.

Football • Ask us about the game against Austria in 1990, and we'll probably buy you a beer.

SEMI-SAFE TOPICS

Asking how we are doing • Don't ask unless you really want to know every single detail.

Whaling • We would love to give you our side of the story — if you are willing to listen.

DON'T EVEN THINK ABOUT IT

Relation to Denmark • Just kidding. We like dances. But don't you ever, ever ask us whether we are Danish or Faroese.

Directions outside of Tórshavn • Upon arriving in Tórshavn after being out of town a local høvnormaður says that he's back in the Faeroes.

BEYOND FAROESE WE, THE PEOPLE OF TÓRSHAVN, SPEAK DANISH AND ENGLISH FLEETLY. BUT IF YOU INTRODUCE YOURSELF IN OUR MOTHER TONGUE, YOU WILL BE POPULAR WITHIN SECONDS. HERE ARE THE BASICS FOR YOU:
